

A dark side

Bowing to the dark side of life few the light Mankind vacillates
between black and white as if led by a host
as if making toast

No savage dwells within no mind to call one's own no health without sickness no life without death passing through this realm of consequences

Nietzsche understood
man as a dweller
of shadows the dark
his body and soul as one

The body human
a body of meat
a body of parts
a bacteria treat
on the way of all flesh races from birth unto death

Man is not lead but willfully chooses all steps Man the sum of choices wise and unwise choices keeps hiding his scent
and his tracks.
